On 22 April, together with BNP Paribas Private Banking, we held a well received conference. The over 200 owners and managers of private companies present, heard plain-air presentations on: the GDPboosting effect of M&A transactions, tax optimisation; the protection of sellers' against buyers' representations and warranties; due diligence preparations; self-buyouts and the philosophies and tactics of investing the sale proceeds. Our clients who survived the sale or self-buyout of their companies shared their good and instructive experiences on the exit and that there is life after it... During panel discussions, leading practitioners of the profession shared their views on the private company markets. Private Equity investors spoke about the type of companies they would like to invest in and lawyers debated the mysteries of sale and purchase agreements, while the best buyout bankers in town discussed the recent appetite for deals in the financing markets. The 2nd Sale and Buyout of Private Companies Conference will be held on 22 April 2009 at the Hilton Budapest Westend. Pre-waking birds may register at the super discounted price of HUF 25,000 until 15 June 2008.
